

Parcours

Is jumping between buildings good for your child?

Family

In a spin

Meet the boy who is taking the gymnastics world by storm

Sport

Pompeii

Visit before it is buried again!

Travel

An Extra-Ordinary Beginning?

Move over Harry Potter - there are new kids in town and their names are Eric and Ursula

Review

European edition Saturday 20.09.08

The International Times

www.theinternational.com

The New Criminal Element?

INTERPOL divided after it issues an arrest warrant for two children

Campbell Windsor Lyon

INTERPOL, the world's largest international police organisation, was divided last night after it issued the arrest warrant for two 11 year old children.

Robert K. Noble, the Secretary General of INTERPOL, claimed, "these two children are part of an Eurasian criminal organisation and our detectives made this unnerving discovery during our ongoing Operation Millennium."

The International Times has learnt that he has the support of senior figures at INTERPOL but not those lower down.

Mr Noble has been unavailable for comment but in a prepared statement he said, "we cannot name the suspects for legal reasons but I can reveal that we are looking for a girl of French African descent and a boy from central or northern Europe."

This statement has been met with derision by a vocal group of INTER

Due to legal requirements we are forbidden from showing the top half of this photograph, reportedly the clearest image of the two suspects which INTERPOL has

-POL employees. One, who asked to remain anonymous, said, "this has nothing to do with Operation Millennium. This is covering up something far more sinister and INTERPOL are being pressurised into finding these children by an unknown external agency. None of us who have been working on Operation Millennium have come across these children and none of us believe these children are in any

Continued on page 2 >>

“

Fact of fiction? The International Times questions the validity of INTERPOL's claims and fails to find convincing answers

Leader comment page 27>>

With their imagination, and their ability to create and destroy in equal measures, is it any wonder that two children have taken the next step up the crime ladder?

Angus Nichols page 25>>

”

UFO found in Transylvania

AGERPRES, the national news agency of Romania, has reported the discovery of an Unidentified Flying Object in a small town in Transylvania.

In echoes of Roswell, the craft was seen flying across the small town of Sfantu Gheorghe before crash landing north of the town. It was reported that local residents rushed to the scene to discover a deep hole in the ground and a half-buried silver craft.

The craft was quickly removed by soldiers and taken away to an unknown location. Admiral, Gheorghe Marin, Commander-in-chief of the

Page 3 >>

Billionaire family missing presumed dead

It has been confirmed that the luxury yacht, 'Queen of Hearts,' disappeared in the Persian Gulf fifty kilometres off Dubai early Friday morning. The 'Queen of Hearts' was owned by the Meyer family, one of the richest families in Europe.

Martin Meyer, the poker legend and recluse, his wife, and former Miss World, Maria and their son are all missing.

Captain Sharma and his cargo vessel 'Gulf Steam' were the first to arrive at the last known coordinate of the yacht but, at the time of writing, had found no survivors.

Jolanna Corn, the US Secretary of State, who is

Page 6 >>

European Space Station Disaster Remembered

Today marks the 10th anniversary of the disaster which took the lives of fourteen astronauts and scientists.

A remembrance service will be held today at 13:57, the time of the explosion, at the European Space Operations Centre in Darmstadt, Germany.

Ten years on it is still unclear what caused the explosion at the European Space Station but scientists now feel that the most likely cause was a meteor or piece of space junk left over from the Cold War. However,

Page 7 >>

Wikipedia fights off CIA criticism

Wikipedia, the biggest multilingual encyclopaedia on the internet, is at the centre of a row with the CIA after one of its articles was modified this week.

In the article, 'Office of Strategic Services', the predecessor of the CIA, an unknown user deleted the date the agency was dissolved and replaced it with the words, 'NOT dissolved'.

Jimmy Wales, the co-founder and überpedian of Wikipedia, has admitted to serious quality problems in the past and dismissed this latest row as a "storm in a tea cup." He went on to say, "it is probably a couple of kids

Page 9 >>